

From Kate Boundy, teaching 'excluded' young people-May 2013

Fiona, I just wanted to tell you how invaluable the Sound Reading System has been for my career so far. It has been the most effective training I have ever had and I am really happy to let people know about it. This is what I want to say,

"Since completing the Sound Reading System training with Fiona Nevola in 2011 my teaching practice has been transformed. I have found the resources so easy to use and students have responded incredibly well to the programme. I have grown in confidence as a new teacher to the profession and feel that the Sound Reading System should definitely be included within the PGCE qualification framework. I also feel that it should be included within the Additional Diploma in Teaching English (Literacy) in the Lifelong Learning Sector framework. This is an invaluable reading programme that I simply could not do without- nor could my pupils."
